Raising teenagers and preteens can be very challenging. It's sometimes difficult to give love and support to our kids as they experience this period of development.

It's not an easy age to be. Teens' bodies go through hormonal changes that can be confusing to navigate, and their social environments can be complex as well.

This Master Class helps parents to better understand their kids, and to strategize about how to stay connected.

RAISING TEENS AND TWEENS: SUPPORTING ATTACHMENT WITH OLDER CHILDREN

This class will be held in a private home in Echo Park. Address will be provided upon registration.

Some partial scholarships available.
