

Working with Childhood Trauma

Facilitated by Louise Godbold

There has been a great demand for Echo's training on the effects of childhood trauma and how to build resilience. Since our interactive, multimedia presentations are so popular, we are offering an in-depth training to cover all the material on this cutting edge subject.

Did you know that your grandparents' experiences can affect the way you respond to trauma today?

Did you know that stress makes us more sensitive to sound?

Do certain communities still carry the effects of trauma to this day?

Register today for a comprehensive and fascinating review of all that current science is telling us about the number one health issue of our time.

This training will cover:

- Adverse Childhood Experiences Study
- The effects of trauma/toxic stress on attachment, the body and the brain of the developing child
- Survival responses and regulation
- Trauma-informed care
- Intergenerational trauma – the legacy in our bodies
- Historical and social trauma
- Building resilience

Tuesday October 11, 2016 | 9am - 4pm

Location: The California Endowment, 1000 N. Alameda St., Los Angeles, CA 90012

Fee: $125 per person, 6 CEUs available for an additional $40

Register Online at: www.echoparenting.org under "Professional Development"

Free parking is available at The California Endowment, (Lunch will not be provided)

For questions about this training please contact Azucena Ortiz
aortiz@echoparenting.org
(213) 484-6676 x311