

Seeking Safety

An evidence based model for trauma and/or substance abuse

October 25, 2019 | 9:00 am - 4:30 pm

Training Facilitated by: Summer Krause, LPC, CADCI

Seeking Safety is an evidence-based program for counselors to help trauma survivors master the skills needed to reestablish basic physical and emotional safety. Originally developed to help those who are dealing with trauma and substance abuse, the techniques and information learned during this training can help anyone in need of stabilization after experiencing trauma and improve their coping skills. This training is designed for anyone; no license, degree, or prior training is required.

Educational Objectives:

- Learn how to implement Seeking Safety with adults and/or adolescents
- Increase empathy and understanding of trauma and substance abuse
- Obtain assessment and treatment resources
- Review research and clinical issues in treating trauma and substance abuse

If you are a LAC-DMH PEI Provider and are taking this training as part of the PEI Plan, you are required to:

- Attend entire training and sign-in and sign-out
- Read Seeking Safety's Frequently Asked Questions located on the Seeking Safety website
- Review the LAC-DMH PEI Seeking Safety Guidelines
- Bring a copy of the Seeking Safety Book; books can be purchased online or on the day of the training

Fees

Training: $160 | Book: $55
Register online or by mail, visit www.echotraining.org/seekingsafety for more information

Book

The Seeking Safety book will be available for purchase on site (and pre-purchased books can be picked up) at the Registration Desk. The Seeking Safety book is highly recommended for all attendees and required by DMH. It is a 400-page manual that provides all you need to conduct Seeking Safety (clinician guide and client handouts).
